Prof. M.S. Swaminathan

(till 28th September, 2023)

Mr. Bhaskar Barua

Chairman of the Governing Board

As we come to the end of another year of meaningful work, I would like to reflect on the continued progress of the activities of the Coalition for Food and Nutrition Security. Working with full dedication to address the pressing challenges of food and nutrition security, the past year has been a testament to our collective resolve striving to achieving our vision, working together with all those committed to better the state of food and nutrition security of the needy.

During the year CFNS collaborated with various government and non-government organizations and convened meetings, dialogues, and discussions with policy makers on building a shared narrative and consensus for adoption of a community- based programme approach for prevention and management of growth faltering. CFNS worked in tandem with state UNICEF teams for joint advocacy with the Government counterparts and other key stakeholders. The initiative has been carried out in Odisha, Madhya Pradesh, Jharkhand, Telangana and Chhattisgarh.

Recognizing that Nutrition Security will be elusive without Food Security, the CFNS aligned with its mission and vision has decided to support and catalyse interventions that produce more nutritious food and increase farmers' income. Millets, Dairy, Horticultural produce and other food commodities rich in nutrition are the focus of CFNS intervention. CFNS has decided to activate an exclusive vertical for promoting Farmer Producer Organizations with these objectives.

The Coalition is actively pursuing partnership with the Department of Agriculture, Odisha to work together towards the building of the FPO ecosystem and Department of Agriculture Assam to work together towards reviving millets and focus on generating additional income and providing nutritional security of the farmers of Assam, covering several potential millet growing areas of the state.

The Coalition has been engaging with top CSR entities and is in dialogue with public and private sector organizations to support action research projects to address the food and nutrition security issues to complement the government projects and programmes.

As we embark on a new year, we remain committed to deepening our partnerships with governments, civil society, and the private sector to amplify our impact and attain our shared vision "to achieve sustainable food and nutrition security for all."

None of our accomplishments would have been possible without the unwavering dedication and hard work of our coalition members, partners, and staff. I extend my deepest gratitude to all of you for your relentless efforts and passion for this cause. I would also like to thank our donors, stakeholders, and the communities we serve for their continued trust and collaboration.

As we move forward, let us remain focused on our mission and inspired by the lives we have touched. Together, we will continue to pave the way for a future where every individual has access to the nutrition they need to thrive. The road ahead is long, but our collective strength and shared vision give me great confidence in the impact we can achieve.

In sincere appreciation,
Bhaskar Barua

CFNS Strategy

Introduction

The Coalition in its second decade is a platform for members to collaborate and achieve the common vision of “sustainable food and nutrition security for all.” Unique and unparalleled, the Coalition has elected a Governing Board which includes senior functionaries from the Government of India, State governments and eminent civil society leaders.

The Coalition has the inherent strength as a public interest-oriented organisation to transform the food and nutrition landscape. This strategy aims to transform the country’s nutrition scenario through collective action, keeping sustainability as the key approach, placing women and girls in the forefront. The methodology involves a series of consultations, in- depth interviews, feedback from the thought leaders and practitioners from across India and the world, discussion and approval in the General Body.

The Coalition functions as a knowledge aggregator, collating existing research coupled with on-field programs, and transferring the knowledge to partners and stakeholders. The Coalition strategy involves collaboration, influencing policy for improving state accountability vis-a-vis SDG targets, and providing informed choices on policy reforms, breakthrough research, and strategic priorities in its pursuit of evidence-based advocacy. These have been achieved by sustained and inclusive membership engagement, knowledge management designed for advocacy and to catalyse social behaviour change.

Our strategy for the next 5 years will be to ensure that sustainable food and nutrition is a priority agenda not only for the government, civil society and other development actors, but also for the socially responsible businesses, media, aid agencies and citizens at large, particularly the women and girls. Guided by the belief that women play a strategic role in protecting food and nutrition sovereignty, we will work to empower women with research backed information, tools and methods to bring changes in their human conditions and social positions. The Coalition will be guided by the concern that even as the increasing food demand is met, the natural resources will be used responsibly.
